MONTE SAN GABRIELE FALLS; GERMANS PREPARE TO RETIRE FROM WEST FLANDERS FRONT

Austrians' Mountain Stronghold Northeast of Gorizia Taken by Cadorna, Whose Advance Now Menaces Enemy's Grip on Monte San Daniele

Teuton Army in Belgium Reported Ready for Another "Strategic Retreat"—May Fall Back to Courtrai-Thourot Line, Releasing 225 Square Miles of Territory

Capture of the powerful mountain fortress of Monte San Gabriele, in the Julian Alps, by Cadorna's advancing army is announced from Rome.

Reports from the west front declare that the Germans are preparing to evacuate their present lines in West Flanders from east of Ypres to Dixmude.

ITALIAN THRUST WINS MOUNTAIN STRONGHOLD

ROME, Sept. 5.—Capture of Monte San Gabriele was officially announced by the Italian War Office today.

A large number of prisoners and a great quantity of war material fell into the hands of the Italian army.

With the Italian tricolor floating over this fortress peak, southeast of Monte Santo, the second line of the Austro-Hungarian works defending them have been under continuous assault for upward of a week.

The capture of this important line in the defenses along the Austro-Hungarian center east of Gorizia.

If the Italians succeed in breaking through completely in the sector east of Gorizia, they will be in a position to re-take Trieste and the Isonzo line.

Swiss dispatches today declared in answer to frantic appeals of the Italian Staff Germany has dispatched two Bavarian divisions to re-inforce the Austrians.

The offensive that General Cadorna started about four weeks ago and has pushed with such success in bringing in big results, Monte San Gabriele, the dark and menacing barrier of stone and steel that, together with Monte Santo to the north, overhanged Gorizia and poured a rain of iron upon its streets and environments, thus checking any operation in that section, has finally fallen into the hands of the Allies.

Cadorna's clever strategy is now fully revealed. By attacking the enemy farther to the north and capturing Monte Santo the fate of San Gabriele was sealed.

The capture of this fortress will mean renewed vigor in the Italian drive, which now enters a new phase, Monte San Daniele, another fortified mountain, lies south of San Gabriele. The conquest of these two mountains will open to the Italians the

SEIBOLD HURLS WELL, YET BOSTON SOX WIN

Athletics Hit Ball Hard, but Fail in the Pinches—Errors Help Barriers

SHIBO PARK, Sept. 5.—The Boston Red Sox got only two hits in the first seven innings of today's game here as against a triple, a double and two singles by the Athletics in the same session, and yet Barry's team held the lead by 2 to 0.

The difference in the score was caused by the carelessness of the bases on balls given by Seibold and an error by Meyer.

The A's scored in the ninth and the final count was 2-1.

The Red Sox got their first run in the second inning on a pass to Lewis. Walker's sacrifice, Gardner out and Meyer's wild throw to first on Scott's grounder.

They again failed in the sixth. Hooper walked, moved to second on McNally's sacrifice and came home on Lewis's single to right, this being the first hit made of Seibold.

Of the four hits credited to the Athletics in the first seven innings, McNally got a double and two singles, and the other was a triple by Bodie.

FIRST INNING
Jamison backed to the fence for Hooper's fly. McNally walked. Hoblitzel lined to Lewis. Scott was safe on Meyer's wild throw of his bunt to McNally. Lewis scoring. Scott stole second. Agnew went out. Seibold to Grover to McNally. Seibold had his left

PLAN CHANGES OF EUROPEAN POST-WAR MAP

Some Allied Diplomats in Washington Outline Proposed Readjustments

U. S. NOT TO INTERFERE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—Kaiser Wilhelm's militaristic power must be utterly broken and the conscience and character of Germany radically changed before America will hold out peace, it was officially stated today.

No superficial reforms—under Reichstag decrees—will meet American standards. The popular vote is imperative as one condition.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—Some allied diplomats in the capital—the French and British decline to discuss the question—are looking forward to post-bellum territorial lines. They declare that German atrocity must be wiped out, and that nations must be allowed to develop along free lines, without the threat of Prussianism upon them.

The proposed readjustment of the European map, to which the United States has not agreed, indicating that she will not interfere in the settlement of questions purely European, is as follows:

Restoration of Belgium, Montenegro, Serbia and Rumania.

France to have Alsace-Lorraine, a part of the Baltic provinces, as well as Serbia, Belgium and northern France.

Italy to have Trieste, the Istrian peninsula, the Dalmatian islands and the eastern coast of the Adriatic.

Serbia to have Bosnia and Herzegovina and a Yugoslav state to be formed out of the Yugoslav provinces of Austria.

Formation of a free Poland and a free Czechoslovak state; liberation of the Arabs from Ottoman rule.

To offset the menacing possibilities in the Russian situation and to force Germany into peace more rapidly the Allies probably will soon undertake a new anti-Austrian campaign.

Strong pressure is being exerted on the United States to declare war against Austria, and then to aid in downing her so that Germany would be without her aid and cut off from Turkey and Bulgaria.

KEYSTONE MEN MAY START TO GO TOMORROW

New 28th Division of U. S. Army Ordered to Camp Hancock

WILL SPEED MOVEMENT

Official orders to move all Pennsylvania troops as soon as possible to Camp Hancock were received late this afternoon at headquarters of the Twenty-eighth Division, U. S. A., from the Department of the East at Governor's Island.

Efforts will be made to start some of the troops south tomorrow, providing transportation facilities can be arranged.

The order will be flashed throughout the State tonight, and it is understood that many of the troops are prepared to move within a few hours after receiving such an order.

Orders to move the Pennsylvania troops to Camp Hancock were received by telephone from the Department of the East this afternoon at the headquarters of the Twenty-eighth Division, U. S. A., in the Lincoln Building.

These orders caused a great stir in all the local camps. Arrangements have already been made to start the big troop movement on Friday.

Arrangements are being made to move one brigade a day. On Friday the medical unit, military police, Third Artillery, of Willis-Barre, and Second Brigade, of Pittsburgh, will start south.

According to present plans, the Philadelphia troops will not leave until Monday, when the First Brigade, including Cavalry Troops A, B and D and headquarters department, will start. The Third Brigade also will leave on Monday.

The First Regiment is holding forth at Camp Brown, Third and Spruce streets; the Third is at Sixty-ninth and Market streets, while the Sixth is comfortably settled on Drexel Hill. There was much scurrying about of all these camps this afternoon, and the bustle and bustle will continue for the next two days.

Arrangements for the transportation of the troops are being made. The general Fred T. Pusey. There is an abundance of cars available for this big troop movement. It is said, as a result of plans for just such an emergency.

It is believed that the troops will leave at the rate of one regiment a day, and, with their auxiliaries, all are expected to be under way in ten days.

The auxiliary units include Field Hospital Nos. 2 and 3, Hospital No. 2, 3 and 4, and No. 3 at the State Penitentiary.

All the Pennsylvania troops are expected to be under way in ten days. The order to start the troops moving was

FIRST GROUPS OF NEW ARMY OFF TO CAMPS

New Spartan Life of U. S. Citizen Soldiers Starts at Once

DELAY PENNSYLVANIANS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—The first group of drafted men to train for the battle against kaiserism passed from civil to military life today.

Quitting the factories, stores and offices, they entrained for cantonment camps. Several thousand will be en route to the camp cities by night, while others will follow until Sunday. The second section of drafted men will leave September 19 and the third movement, October 3.

The single exception to this movement toward camp today was the Maryland, District of Columbia and eastern Pennsylvania units, delayed until September 19, because "Camp Meade, Admiral, Md., is not completed.

The country's railroads are giving the National Army the best facilities. Where night journeys are necessary Pullman sleeping coaches were provided. Many troops will arrive at cantonment camps before nightfall.

RESPOND TO "GREEN NOTICES"
The little green notices calling America's selected sons to battle for world democracy went out early this week. The first to go reported to their local boards today at an hour convenient to entraining time.

The new spartan military life of the citizen soldiers began immediately. They went to camp without the little comforts of home they are accustomed to—carrying only the barest necessities. The quartermaster's department has been working night and day to provision the camps and gather equipment for the new cantonment cities. The first quotas—largely men with previous military training—will prepare the camps for receiving the hordes to follow in 40 per cent increments on September 19 and October 3.

While the new soldiers traveled "night," their comfort was not overlooked. Pullman meals were served on the train on the long journeys. Red Cross chapters at way points served light refreshments and emergency rations. Philadelphia alone wired National Red Cross headquarters that the city was prepared to feed 1500 troops a day indefinitely.

Arriving at the camps in charge of a picked man of their own number, the

EPPA RIXEY IS YANKED

POLO GROUNDS, New York, Sept. 5.—The Giants knocked Eppa Rixey out of the box after two innings of the second game this afternoon, after beating Chief Bender, 3-2, in the first fray.

The Giants got two runs in the first after two were out. Kauff singled and scored on Zimmerman's triple, Zimmerman scoring on Fletcher's single.

In the second inning, after Thorpe beat out a hit to Stock, the Phillies' defense went to pieces and errors by Stock and Luderus, coupled with two hits, gave the Giants two more runs.

In the fourth Cravath hit a homer into the right-field stand. Fittery succeeded Rixey and the Giants were unable to hit him.

FIRST INNING
Pashert was out, Fletcher to Holke. Bancroft was safe when Holke muffed Fletcher's throw. Stock singled to right, Bancroft going to second. Cravath fled to Thorpe. Sallee threw Luderus out. No runs, one hit, one error.

RAID SOCIALISTS' CHICAGO OFFICES

National and State Headquarters Entered and Pamphlets and Records Taken

MORE SEIZURES IN WEST

Agents of the local Bureau of Investigation of the Department of Justice late this afternoon raided the Philadelphia branch of the Industrial Workers of the World, located in the Parkway Building, Broad and Cherry streets. Books, several large ledgers and membership cards were seized by the raiding party. These were taken to the Federal Building.

No arrests were made. The raid was made on search warrants issued by Commissioner Edmunds.

CHICAGO, Sept. 5.—Government operatives and detectives raided I. W. W. headquarters at 210 p. m. today, seizing all literature in the place. William Haywood, international secretary, was present. No arrests were made.

The Chicago raid was said to be part of the nation-wide movement against the I. W. W. Arrests were not contemplated unless evidence seized justified such course.

National and State headquarters of the Socialist party were also raided. Literature and records were seized. Adolph Green, executive secretary of the Socialists, witnessed the raid. No arrests were made.

Despite the announcement of the officers that "no arrests will be made," Haywood was taken away from the I. W. W. building in an automobile, in the custody of two operatives.

"What are you going to do with Haywood, if no arrests are to be made?" was asked. "The whole affair will be a matter of record when we are through," a Government officer replied. "Until that time we can say nothing."

Raids also were made at Superior, Wis.; Denver, Seattle, Wash.; Portland, Ore., and other points.

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 5.—Three separate offices maintained as headquarters of the I. W. W. in this city were raided by Government officers here shortly after 2 p. m. I. W. W. literature and the membership books of the organization were confiscated. Government agents were still in possession of the offices late today.

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 5.—A party of deputy sheriffs at noon today swept down on the headquarters of the I. W. W. and searched the place from cellar to garret.

FIGHT TRANSIT GRAB, TAYLOR'S CALL TO PUBLIC

Smith-Mitten Lease Described as "Scandalous"

SAYS TERMS BIND CITY TO BUY P. R. T.

Document Seen to Involve Payment of $90,000,000 by Passengers

STOCK AT $60 A SHARE

By A. MERRITT TAYLOR
Immediately after publishing the result of my partial and hasty analysis of the Smith lease on Monday, August 20, I proceeded to study this intricate document with the utmost deliberation and care.

As a result, all of my former findings have been confirmed and a still more serious and amazing situation—which had been well obscured—is now revealed.

I deliberately charge:
First, That under the scandalously obscure terms of the Smith lease the city of Philadelphia would be firmly bound to buy the property, leaseholds and franchises of the P. R. T. Company, and that the stockholders of the P. R. T. Company would be paid approximately $60 per share for their stock.

Second, That the Smith lease would guarantee and firmly bind the street railway passengers in Philadelphia to pay to the stockholders of the P. R. T. Company—
(a) A 6 per cent cumulative dividend.
(b) Also, more than $50 per share for the 600,000 shares of capital stock of the company now outstanding, or more than $30,000,000.

Third, That the Smith lease would firmly bind the street railway passengers in Philadelphia to pay the city's full interest charge on its debt to be incurred for transit developments and to repay to the city the entire cost of its high-speed system, which Director Twining has this year estimated will be in the neighborhood of $90,000,000.

The net result of the subject-matter of these charges would be to require the street railway passengers in Philadelphia to pay not only a 6 per cent cumulative dividend on Philadelphia Rapid Transit stock and 4 per cent on the entire cost of the city's transit development, but to purchase—and pay $50 a share for—the 600,000 shares of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company's stock—which is now selling at $30 a share—and to present it to the city of Philadelphia, also to repay to the city the entire cost of its high-speed system.

OFFERED BETTER TERMS
The terms of the Taylor lease, which were agreed to by the management of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company on December 29, 1912, would have bound street railway passengers to pay a rate of fare sufficient at least to yield to the stockholders of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company 5 per cent on their stock, and they would also have received one-tenth of the remainder; the city would have had the remaining nine-tenths of the income of the unified system as an offset to its interest and sinking-fund charges; thus the street railway passengers would not have been assessed under the terms of the Taylor lease through increased fares, but they would have received a return equal to the city's entire interest and sinking-fund charges; the current revenue of the city will, of course, be largely increased on account of the great increase in taxable values which will take place in the districts which the city's high-speed lines will serve.

Under the Taylor lease the city would have secured an option to buy the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company's stock at $40 per share, the exchange tickets would have been promptly eliminated and there would have been virtually no likelihood, except in case of extraordinary circumstances, of any increase in fare.

Under the Smith lease a very heavy increase in fare is positively assured to street railway passengers of the city; and such an increase in fare could not be avoided if the Smith lease were to become effective.

It will be remembered that the Taylor lease was discarded on the ground that it bound street railway passengers to pay a fare sufficient to yield 5 per cent on the P. R. T. Company's stock.

The Smith lease was then framed up by Messrs. Smith and Mitten, and was passed around by the Department of City Transit, with a letter from the Director, which had a partial, inaccurate and misleading, unsigned statement attached thereto. Paragraph No. 2 thereof read as follows:

"That, although the city does not object to a reasonable dividend for the company's stockholders, it must make no guarantee."
Those who may have been put to sleep by that unsigned statement—which was circulated by the department—must wake up and recognize these facts.

The Smith lease guarantees and firmly binds the street railway passengers of Philadelphia to pay to the stockholders of the P. R. T. Company a cumulative dividend of 6 per cent instead of a cumulative dividend of 5 per cent.

The Smith lease obligates the city to buy the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company's stock on a basis which would yield to the stockholders $50 a share, instead of simply securing to the city an option to buy that stock at $40 a share.

The Smith lease would legalize and continue the illegally discriminatory eight-cent exchange ticket charge, instead of providing for its prompt elimination.

The people of Philadelphia have ratified the city's program of transit development as it was presented to them at scores of mass meetings held throughout the city, scores of definite resolutions unanimously adopted and by their almost unanimous sup-
